PRESENTING THE EL PASO BURRO TO NEW ORLEANS

—From New Orleans Playmate.

EL PASO SHRINERS HONOR CHIEF

ENTERTAIN NEW HEAD OF THE ORDER

California Man Guest of Local Shriners on the Way Home—Pilgrims Return.

As a crowning feature of the successful pilgrimage made by the El Paso Shriners to New Orleans, El Maida temple had the honor of acting as escort for Fred A. Hines, newly elected imperial potentate of all the Shrine bodies. He was en route to his home in Los Angeles from the 25th reunion on board the same train upon which the El Paso delegation arrived in El Paso Sunday. The imperial potentate was accompanied by a party of Shriners from Los Angeles and upon his arrival here Sunday on the delayed Sunset limited, was given an auto ride over the city by the El Paso shrine, with potentate R. D. Richey, collector A. L. Sharpe, betting policeman J. B. Brady and other prominent Shriners.

The imperial potentate promised the El Pasoans that he would visit El Maida temple in the fall and would be glad to accept the invitation extended to him Saturday to be the guest of the El Paso shrine during his visit here.

Wants to Encourage the West.
The first section of the Sunset limited, carrying the El Paso delegation and the imperial potentate and his party, arrived in the union station shortly after 10 o'clock and after a 20 minute stay here, left for Los Angeles. Imperial potentate Hines is a prominent fruit grower of California, and is one of the leading Masons of the Pacific coast. He was elected at New Orleans and will preside at the 25th imperial council reunion, to be held in Rochester, N. Y. The 14 months intervening between the two reunions will be spent in visiting the different shrines throughout the country, including El Maida temple of El Paso. "I want to build up the shrines throughout the United States," he said Sunday. "Especially do I wish to make the shrines west of the Mississippi river as strong as the older ones of the east, and I will devote the greater part of my time to these temples. El Paso is not a strange city to me, for I have been here a number of times, but I will be delighted to return in the fall to visit the El Paso temple."

Some Shriners Remain Over.
In the potentate's party who were here were: Ed. M. Smithers and wife, E. J. Wyman and wife, Seamen Van Vleet, all of Yakima, Wash.; C. F. Poehler, Minneapolis, Minn.; and W. L. Vail, of Mexico City. The party was taken for a short auto ride and several of the party remained in El Paso over Sunday to visit the Mexican side and the other places of interest. Those who stayed in the city were given a luncheon at the Country club and an auto ride to Juarez and down the valley in the afternoon by the local Shriners. The shrine train was met by the El Paso Shriners, who did not go to New Orleans, and an impromptu reception was held on the station platform for the imperial potentate and the returning Shriners from El Maida temple.

Ready for Next Reunion.
Scarcely had the smoke of the last reunion at New Orleans cleared away before the El Paso Shriners, elated at their new conquest at the Crescent City, had begun to plan for next year. "On to Rochester," is the slogan with the El Maida Shriners and they held a business session on the train coming into El Paso Sunday evening to discuss the plans for the next reunion, to be held at Rochester, N. Y., July, 1911. An Arabian patrol of 50 men was the first thing decided upon at the informal meeting and which will be proposed to the El Paso Shrine body at its first meeting. The wonderful success of Hella temple, of Dallas, in organizing and drilling a patrol was the inspiration for a similar organization among the El Maida nobles. Under command of Capt. McLean, the Arabian patrol went to New Orleans with four different and distinctive uniforms and with drill evolutions which were revelations to the older eastern and northern patrols, which had been drilling for years. Marching in the patrol parade directly in front of the El Paso burro patrol, the Hella temple boys shared the ovation of the crowds with their west Texas brothers. Their drill uniform was the most gorgeous of any seen at the reunion and, aside from the burro patrol from El Paso, was the feature of the Texas shrines.

Mexican Costumes.
The plan suggested at the informal meeting on the train for a patrol uniform was to have a complete charro costume of Mexican suits made of mode colored cloth, with the tight fitting trousers, short roundabout jacket and high felt sombrero, the hat, trousers and coat to be trimmed in silver braid and silver coins. This will be used as the fatigue uniform for traveling and for all occasions where a patrol uniform proper is not required. These Mexican costumes, according to the present plan, are to be worn with Mexican serapes over the shoulders and with soft shirts and red ties. For the patrol drills, the patrol of El Maida will have an old gold and black Arabian costume, with wound turban and hood, bloomers and short jackets, with gold stockings and low shoes.

For the patrol parade, which is always the biggest feature of any shrine week, the burros will be shipped ahead and will appear in the parade with saddle blankets upon which is worked the name of the patrol, after which each of the burros is to be named, and with "El Maida—El Paso" below the burros' name. A huge satin banner with the name of the temple is to be carried at the head of the burro patrol by high priest Bob Page next year and the rear will be brought up by the two baby burros which are to be taken along and presented to the newly elected imperial potentate and to the city where the reunion is held. To raise funds for uniforming the El Paso patrol a big shrine minstrel show has been proposed, to be given during the winter and to be in charge of O. L. Jeannon, who produced the "Night in Bohemia" in El Paso for the Shriners. A shrine ball, to be made an annual feature, will also be given during the winter for the same cause.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.
Bob Page, high priest and prophet, and the highest high priest in captivity, has ceased to be a personality in the shrine. He has become an institution. If there was a noble at the New Orleans reunion who did not meet and know Page well enough to call him Bob, the El Paso crowd was unable to find the individual. Several tall Shriners were stacked up against Page in an effort to deprive him of his distinction, but he came out victorious.

Of all the souvenirs given away by the Shriners, from the expensive champagne glasses given by Pittsburg, to the official badge of the New Orleans temple, the "El Paso hats" were the most sought for of any.

The women and children went wild over the quaint little burros, and they were petted and loved wherever they appeared on the streets.

El Paso seemed to be the only town in Texas at New Orleans. Although Galveston, Houston and Dallas were there in force with a military shrine band from Galveston and a press agent from Houston, El Paso attracted more attention, received more publicity and pulled off more unique stunts than the other Texas shrines combined. The burros, the Mexican costumes and the enthusiasm of the El Pasoans for their city was what won for them. The papers carried column after column about the deluge of El Paso and printed pictures of the individual nobles and the party. Wherever an El Pasoan went he was greeted with cheers for his loyalty to his home town and the assertion was made that El Paso had received thousands of dollars worth of the most valuable advertising possible out of the pilgrimage to New Orleans.

The Musician's Favorite

Professional musicians and expert piano players favor the small grand piano. They are the only perfect piano, and should be used by those aspiring to become finished pianists. The action is so elastic, the tone absolutely perfect, making playing a real pleasure rather than a task. We have just received a shipment of the finest lot of grand pianos ever shipped to El Paso from the world renowned Sohmer & Co., the famous Ivers & Pond, and the celebrated Adian Schaefer.

In the Sohmer we have their Louis XV. Art Grand, used by the world's greatest artists. We have the Ivers & Pond Princess Grand, famous the world over.

In order to introduce our exceptionally fine line of Grand Pianos we are going to sell them at from $400 and upwards. We take old instruments in exchange as part payment, allowing all that are worth. Ask for our easy payment plan.

We cordially invite Musicians, Music Teachers and piano buyers to call and examine our exceptionally fine stock of grand and upright pianos at our new location, corner Texas and Stanton streets.

Fort Sumner Land and Canal company, have returned from Santa Fe, where they went in regard to matters affecting the construction of the big irrigation project that is to water nearly 100,000 acres adjacent to this place.

The farmers down the valley are still setting out orchards.

It is announced that the local justice's precinct is to be divided by the county commissioners on a line down the alley between Third and Fourth streets. This will have the effect of doubling the number of precincts in the Fourth street saloons, as the growth of the town is nearly all east of the street.

The steps necessary in securing titles to lots in the segregated town site is progressing rapidly. The probate judge has made application for entry as trustee of the lot claimants.

There is a movement on foot for a bridge across the Pecos river on the section line running south from town. A meeting was held Friday by the farmers of Brydell for the purpose of bonding their claims for money to sink test wells. It is believed that artesian water can be developed.

A number of relinquishments are reported sold by local real estate men. The past few weeks have seen a very heavy demand for claims owing to the prospect of the new ditches being put through.

The sentiment in favor of incorporating the town is growing.

COBB TO TALK AT BUSINESS MEN'S LUNCHEON.

Zack Lamar Cobb, the more or less silver tongued speaker of the more or less silvery Grande, will give the luncheon talk at the chamber of commerce Thursday at noon. "The Actual Effect of the Irrigation Bond Issue on Land Values in the Rio Grande Valley," is his subject, effort being made to make it a special feature of the luncheon series.

MINING ENGINEER'S WIFE DIES.

Chihuahua, Mex., April 18.—Mrs. Frank E. Holmes, wife of the English mining engineer, died Saturday night and was buried Sunday. Death was caused by a cancer. Mr. Holmes is the consulting engineer of the Manta Mining company, an English corporation, operating in the Eulalia camp.

ENUMERATOR ILL.

Jose Perez was to have counted the noses in the 10th precinct, but was taken ill Sunday and the 10th is enumerated this week. Another is to be appointed by special agent J. B. Kilpatrick and detailed to that neglected district.

TRAVELERS TO MEXICO.

The winter travel into the interior of Mexico has not diminished with the approach of the hot months, and the spring travel as compared with a year ago is much heavier, is the statement of A. Mulohery, city ticket agent of the National Railways of Mexico.

DIRECTORS TO MEET.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce will meet Friday evening to attend to regular business.
